Dealing With Bitterness

David A. Cox

"Let all bitterness, wrath, anger, clamor, and evil speaking be put away from you, with all malice" — (Ephesians 4:31).

Paul enumerates sins that often will find their way to the hearts and lives of people. Bitterness is the first sin that Paul mentions. It is the first step that will lead to the other sins he mentions. Bitterness is like a slow poison; it will begin with some hurt or sin one suffers and will continue until it saps the joy and goodness from life. What can one do to protect oneself from the destruction of bitterness and the life of sin it leads to?

Remember, God Requires Forgiveness.

Many things in life will bring disappointment and hurt. People will do something that will cause us to suffer emotionally, physically, and spiritually. When times like this come, we need to remember God requires forgiveness. Paul states, "And be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God in Christ forgave you" (Ephesians 4:32). Forgiveness is the key to fighting and overcoming bitterness.

We Are To Forgive Because We Are Forgiven.

Someone may say, "That is not fair! You do not understand the hurt they caused me." Stop and think for a minute. Did Jesus suffer undeserved hurt from others? Was it fair that Jesus died on the cross? Remember, Jesus had no sin. Remember, as Jesus is hanging on the cross, and those who have put Him there are reviling and mocking Him, Jesus says, Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they do" (Luke 23:34). Yes, we may not understand the hurt. Still, Jesus does, and He gave us an example of the forgiving spirit we are to have. We are to forgive them as God forgave us. They may not change, and they will answer to the Lord for themselves, but we will answer for the bitterness we have in our hearts and the lack of a forgiving spirit.

Remember, Bitterness Is A Choice.

In overcoming bitterness, we must remember that we have a choice on how we deal with the hurt and disappointments others have caused us. We cannot control many things, but our attitude is the one thing we can control. It is our choice as to what we will do about it. You can allow bitterness to linger in your mind and allow it to frustrate and cripple your ability to let the light of Christ be seen in your life. Or, you can effectively put it behind you and rid yourself of it. You can pray about it and focus on other thoughts (Philippians 4:8). The choice is up to you. It will be work, and you will have many opportunities to fall back into bitterness, but you can overcome it with the Lord's help (Philippians 4:13).

May we deal with our bitterness in a way that produces the mind and heart of Christ in us. In doing so, we can experience the joy in Christ and ultimately enjoy the hope we live for.

"The Roof Will Collapse"

Larry Schneider

Growing up, my grandfather always told me that he could not come to church with us because, if he did, "The roof would collapse" on everybody. He told me that he had done many things that made God mad. As a young child, I accepted that and wondered what he had done that was so bad. As I grew older and obeyed the Gospel, I began to study more of God's Word and the people in the Bible.

I wondered! Had my grandfather committed adultery with a married woman, and then killed her husband in an attempt to cover it up? David did that, but he is remembered as "a man after God's own heart" (2 Samuel 11 and 12).

Did my grandfather imprison Christians and have them killed? Saul of Tarsus did that but later became the Apostle Paul (Acts 22:3-4).

Did he forsake Paul and Barnabas as John Mark did on the first missionary journey? Paul later writes, "Mark is profitable to me for ministry" (2 Timothy 4:11).

Did my grandfather burn babies to idols and worship idols like King Manasseh did? Yet near the end of his life, he humbled himself and repented. God had mercy on him and delayed judgment (2 Chronicles 33:1-13).

Was he like the "Prodigal Son" who squandered his money with sinful living and ended up eating slop with the pigs? Yet, it says that he "came to himself" and repented. His father welcomed him home. (Luke 15)

It is not what you have done. It is, "Will you repent?" When you repent and come back to God and obey his commandments, He will always be there. His goodness and His mercy endures forever. (Psalm 100:5, Psalm 103: 17, Ephesians 2:4-5)

"The roof will not collapse" on you. It did not on David, Paul, John Mark, King Manasseh, or the prodigal son. God welcomes His children home when they repent, obey His commandments, and return to Him. Never think that you are so bad that God will not welcome you home.

The Way Paul Preached

Robert F. Turner

Soon after Paul had established the cause of Christ in Galatia, Judaising teachers appeared and began their work of destruction. They insisted that Gentiles must be circumcised, must come to Christ via a Jewish route of law; and in their effort to overcome the truth Paul had taught they questioned his apostleship. Paul defended his apostleship to establish the divine source of his message. We here note only the variety and nature of his appeal — the way Paul preached.

There was absolutely no toleration of "another gospel," even if an angel should preach it (Galatians 1:8-9). Nor could its principles be compromised, even by another apostle (Galatians 2:11-14). But strong, hard preaching and emotional appeals were not incompatible. He compared his early work with them to a woman in birth pains, suffering much to bring them to Christ. Now, "I travail in birth again until Christ be formed in you" (Galatians 4:19). He reminded them of their appreciation for his early effort, saying, "If it had been possible ye would have plucked out your eyes, and have given them to me" (Galatians 4:15). That is a heart wringer!

He could become upset with them: "O foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you" (Galatians 3:1); but it is concern for their spiritual well-being that disturbed him. "Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years" (as religious ceremonies); so he says, "I am afraid of you" (Galatians 4:11) and "I stand in doubt of you" (Galatians 4:20). This was the concern of genuine love.

But for those who brazenly contradicted the principles of the gospel Paul had some strong words. He said they were proselyting for the sake of numbers, and their own glory (Galatians 6:12-f). They "desire to have you circumcised that they may glory in your flesh." Perhaps his sharpest criticism is the irony of Galatians 5:12, "I would they were even cut off which trouble you." They preach a little cutting; I wish they were completely cut off.

Here is love, warning, concern, exasperation, tender appeal, fear and trembling, harshness, prayer, blood and thunder. Here is a genuine soldier of the cross; a man of flesh whose heart's desire was to serve the Christ; an example for us all.
